Hi Karen,

Those are all good choices. However, we are going to see a couple of new restaurants open up this season. So, after we try them, there may be more options to add to the list. Vanessa arrives on island on May 1st and we open for the season on May 19th. We will have the concierge services up and running in a formal way after opening. Most restaurants will not accept reservations more than one month in advance. So, we do have some time.

All the best,
Robert

Hi Monique, thank you again for taking so much time to speak with me about your property. I wish I had known about it sooner!

It sounds absolutely perfect and exactly what I am looking for.

If you are able to hold those rooms #126 and #119 for the [REDACTED] and Mullaney's (just through this weekend) that would be excellent. I certainly understand that you are in very high demand and I will do my best to communicate to Brian the urgency we need to consider in reserving your property. Again, the dates will be July 25-28 or July 26-29 (3 nights).

To give you a little background on who we are, WonderWork is one of the world's first major charities focused on providing access to surgery in the developing world. We provide free, life-changing surgeries to children and adults who are blind, severely burned and crippled with clubfoot. We're proud to have provided more than 135,000 free surgeries in just 4 years. As I mentioned, Brian Mullaney is our co-founder. He is also the co-founder and former president of Smile Train, the world's largest cleft organization. When he saw that cleft surgeries had stopped growing and recognized the tremendous underserved need of millions of children and adults suffering from even larger surgical medical problems, he decided to launch WonderWork. The [REDACTED] are our largest benefactors; they are also Smile Train's largest donor. As I mentioned they are extremely generous, understated, and absolutely delightful. They live in Zurich.

If you and/or your husband have 4 free minutes, take a look at a video we have done. It's about 2 blind sisters who received surgery from our partner surgeon in India. All I can tell you is that you will have a big smile on your face after watching it. Just click here: <https://vimeo.com/84902120> And feel free to check out our website at www.wonderwork.org.

Hi Hana,

I do not want my pay to exceed the approved $475,000 annual pay amount that the board approved for this calendar year so please stop paying me when I hit this number and accrue it. I can take it next year.

Also, WonderWork bought a camera for me to take on trips but I want to cover the cost out of my pay. It was around $3,500 so please deduct that amount from my pay.

Any questions or concerns feel free to drop by.

Thanks,

Deduct $10,000 as a contribution to help defray the costs of annual haefner visit – he told me they want to come for another visit this summer.

Deduct $38,000 as an additional contribution.

And then please pay me the remaining amount in my next paycheck which should be around $150,000.

Subject: book summary

Hi Hana,

I want you to know what is going on with the new book I am writing.

As you know, I wrote a book to raise money for Smile Train, and while it was taken off the book shelves just a month before its launch (and it was actually #50 on Barnes and Nobles pre-sales list), when I mailed a thousand or so copies out that I printed myself at my expense, it raised more than $500,000 for WonderWork and most importantly, it prompted [REDACTED] our $7.5 million Impact Loan and $4 million donor to get in touch with us and start supporting WonderWork.

When Smile Train mailed the coffee table book we put together, it raised $2+ million.

I have no doubt that a new book that talks about our previous success at Smile Train and the transition to WonderWork with all of its potential will help us raise millions of dollars for WonderWork.

Our work at Smile Train and WonderWork is currently prominently featured in two best-selling books: Think Like A Freak by Steve Levitt and Stephen Dubner and A Path Appears by 2-time Pulitzer prize winner, NY Times columnist Nick Kristof and his 1-time Pulitzer-prize winning wife Sheryl WuDunn.

My plan is to write a book proposal within the next month or two and shop it around to publishers just as we did with my first book. I have hired the same author who helped me write the first book as she is a great writer and very experienced with what we do. Her latest book, "He Wanted The Moon" was just reviewed by The New York Times and the reviewer wrote - "cannot put it down." If we cannot find a publisher that will be the end of this project. I had 4 publishers bid on my first book so I am confident this will get published. Any and all out-of-pocket costs incurred by WonderWork in this venture over the next 1-2 years will be deducted from my pay so it will not cost WonderWork any money. In addition, I am paying the author $7,500 directly for the book proposal.

When I sign a contract with a publisher for this book, I will include a provision that WonderWork will be able to purchase 20,000 - 30,000 copies of the book at a very low, wholesale rate of $6-$7 to send to our major donors in fundraising appeals. In case this does not work, I will indemnify WonderWork against any losses.

Finally, all of my profits from this book will be donated to WonderWork.

In summary, this project will not cost WonderWork any money. We hope it will raise millions of dollars for WonderWork as well as a lot of awareness just as our viral video has.

I gave told our board of directors all of this and before I sign any agreement with a publisher I will get their formal approval. That should be in 2 months or so.

✓ Please make sure all Eve expenses related to this trip to India be deducted from my pay.

Please let me know if you have any concerns, questions or suggestions.

Thanks,

Brian

Hi,

Here's what I think.

We screwed up when we started out with such a rich plan and now are stuck with it. if we change it will feel like a pay cut. Not fair.

Can we just offer disability to our employees that travel to dangerous countries? Me, DeLois and Tiffany? That will save some money. I don't think half our folks even realize they are covered - I didn't know.

TASC I would leave the same - I think last year was an exception with Vera and Angie. If we have another year like last year we will drop it next year.

Instead of making people pay 10 - 25% of healthcare, why not offer some of our folks who have other options, a cash incentive to not participate? Say 25% of the money we save? Or something like that. I bet some of our younger folks would rather have cash than the insurance.

I would make folks pay 25% of dental insurance since that is very optional and marginal. This too should have an impact.

I would not change spouse/dependents reimbursement.

Finally, Hana take $15,000 out of my pay each year and apply it towards our healthcare costs which will help reduce it.

→ Call me anytime to discuss this or replay by email.

Thanks,

Subject: FY16.17 Renewal rates summary by employee updated

Hi Brian, DeLois,

Please see attached summary of benefits based on our discussion yesterday.
The broker said that most employer groups pay 100% for the employee but some have the employee pay for dependents between 50 and 100%
Employees can decline coverage but they would have to go to market place, healthcare.gov.
The broker said that we can cap TASC at $1k per employee. If, however, we give the employee a choice to cover dental, we would need to get the plan re-quoted.

The summary I prepared has 3 options:

FY17 Option 1 fully loaded- benefits include WW paying 100% health, reimbursement (TASC) of $1k towards deductible, and dental for spouse and family, and individual long term disability. (Increase of 7% in health premium over last year.)
Annual cost to WW $116k.

FY17 Option 2 benefits include WW paying 100% health for each employee and employee paying 25% towards family, capping reimbursement (TASC) of deductible to $1k per employee, and dental and individual long term disability optional if employee pays. Annual cost to WW $94k.

FY17 Option 3 benefits include WW paying 100% health for each employee and employee paying 10% towards family, capping reimbursement (TASC) of deductible to $1k per employee, and dental and individual long term disability optional if employee pays. Annual cost to WW $100k.

Let me know if you have any questions. I would like to discuss later today or tomorrow (I'll be in the office) so we can make a decision.

Thanks

VIA ECF

Honorable Stuart M. Bernstein
United States Bankruptcy Judge
Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York
1 Bowling Green
New York, New York 10004

Re: In re WonderWork, Inc., Case No. 16-13607
Opposition to HelpMeSee's Motion to Appoint a Trustee

Dear Honorable Judge Bernstein:

1. The Walter Haefner Foundation ("the Foundation"), one of the founding donors of WonderWork, Inc. ("WonderWork"), formerly known as Surgery For The Poor ("S4TP") herewith respectfully writes to you to vigorously object to HelpMeSee's motion to appoint a trustee. For the reasons set forth below, the Foundation believes that retaining Brian Mullaney ("Brian") as Chief Executive Officer, and his current management team, is in the best interest of WonderWork.

Start-Up Donation & Relationship With Brian Mullaney

2. Due in large part to Brian's demonstrated excellence in nonprofit management, fundraising and global partnerships, the Foundation has been an avid contributor of Brian's many charitable endeavors. More precisely, The Foundation is proud of having helped him to grow SmileTrain and to create WonderWorks that together have provided more than 1.2 million surgeries in 90 of the world's poorest countries.

3. When Brian was removed from being CEO of Smile Train and from being on the Board of Directors of SmileTrain, the Foundation decided to end any kind of relationship with SmileTrain and to enable Brian's plan of establishing a new charity

3. Therefore, around December 1, 2011, the Foundation extended a considerable donation of $5 million as start-up capital for WonderWork. The Foundation expected that this gift would be used by Brian to grow the young charity, enabling the organization to help provide life-saving surgeries for children and adults no one else would help. At the same time, the Foundation also understood that its funds would be critical in establishing a comprehensive direct mail fundraising program that would earn the trust and support of thousands of other donors which it has. With its initial donation of $5 million, the Foundation hoped to encourage WonderWork's development as a charity.

4. The Foundation has worked with Brian since he served as the President and Co-Founder of Smile Train, Inc. ("Smile Train"). The Foundation provided an initial donation of approximately $50 million to Smile Train which, together with another initial donation of roughly the same size by Mr. Charles Wang, enabled Brian to start Smile Train. He and his team built the organization into one of the largest charities in the world. That they did so in less than five years is nothing short of miraculous. To date, Smile Train has provided more than 1.4 million cleft surgeries and raised more than $1 billion dollars. However, the Foundation was very disappointed to learn about the removal of Brian from SmileTrain which in the perception of the Foundation has the potential to put SmileTrain's success story at high risk.

5. Brian's excellent leadership at SmileTrain was the motivation for the Foundation to support him again at WonderWork. And so far, he and his team have not disappointed. In less than six years, WonderWork has scaled up to more than 100,000 surgeries per year. This growth rate is even faster than what Brian and his team accomplished at Smile Train.

6. Not only has the Foundation worked with Brian for an extended period, but it also remains involved with WonderWork today. Since WonderWork started, there have been regular meetings between Brian and the Foundation every January. Throughout the year, Brian has kept the Foundation informally updated on how the charity is doing.

Opposition to the Arbitration Award

7. It is our understanding that the Partial Final Arbitration Award, AAA Case No. 13-20-1300-0650, dated October 13, 2016, inexplicably attempts to redirect funds the Foundation donated to WonderWork, giving them instead to HelpMeSee. As we gather, the arbitrator somehow determined that the Foundation was misled into giving to WonderWork. This could not be further from the truth. Again: because of Brian's outstanding record as a nonprofit leader, and the impressive team he leads, the Foundation has chosen to support WonderWork. Without question, the Foundation objects to its contribution being redirected to HelpMeSee without the Foundation's knowledge or consent.

8. As suggested above, the Foundation directed its contribution to WonderWork based, in large part, on its longstanding relationship with Brian. Brian's many years of success in fundraising for other charities, and his experience working with health care providers around the world, convinced the Foundation to support WonderWork at its inception. The Foundation's contribution was made in absolute reliance on Brian's leadership role in the organization. To date, the Foundation has given WonderWork approximately $13 million in donations and intends to continue to do so as long as Brian remains WonderWork's leader.

Opposition to Motion

9. The motion to appoint a trustee in this proceeding is troubling. The Foundation strongly opposes the motion and it fears the appointment of a trustee would mean the end of this very important charity. Like most major donors, the Foundation would stop supporting WonderWork if Brian or his team were removed. The Foundation is convinced that there is no one who could take over all the responsibilities and duties that Brian or WonderWork's management handle.

10. Among the barrage of litigation waged by HelpMeSee, in this and previous proceedings, it is all too easy to lose sight of the actual difference that WonderWork makes in the world. The Foundation has been very pleased with WonderWork's achievements. The Foundation's support has helped change the lives of more than 225,000 children and adults who have received surgery thanks to WonderWork. The Foundation is very concerned that if Brian is removed WonderWork's critical support for surgeries will halt, and all of these life-saving medical procedures will end. No other charity will fill this void.

11. Although HelpMeSee alleges the appointment of a trustee is in the best interest of WonderWork, the Foundation opposes HelpMeSee's motion. The Foundation believes that preserving Brian as WonderWork's CEO and Co-Founder, along with the rest of the organization's management, is in our best interest and the best interest of the bankruptcy estate.

12. The Foundation remains confident that WonderWork's current management will offer a comprehensive plan for reorganization, one that will allow it to satisfy creditor claims and emerge from bankruptcy. In order to do so, WonderWork desperately needs its leadership to guide the charity through this bankruptcy proceeding and beyond. Brian and his team had the Foundation's vote of confidence before this bankruptcy, and they have our vote of confidence now.

In light of the foregoing, the Foundation opposes this motion.

Respectfully submitted,
